Our Scho

Summer, Fall, Winter, and Spring: This is the story of your school year as it happened, month by month, season by season. It is the story of your Prom, your pep assemblies, your football team, your sessions with Caesar and Cicero, and your struggles through shorthand and business law. Most activities are listed in chronological order. Because of the freshman's early fall bewilderment at the maze of halls in N.C.H.S., the production of the all important Follies in November by the members of the junior class, or the senior's glory at commencement time, the classes too are filed according to the months in which they held the spotlight. In addition, you will find that throughout the MUSTANG occasional references are made to the current song hit, the Rose Bowl champion, the fad of the day, or the President's accomplishments in Washington. This is the first time that a touch of current events has been added to the regular copy of your MUSTANG. It is hoped that because of those allusions, in years hence you will be able to recall more vividly the happenings of 1954 and 1955.

Yes, this is your 1955 MUSTANG, yours to enjoy both the day it is released and for years to come. And it is the most sincere wish of each and every member of the MUSTANG staff that because of the liberties we have taken with the story of .your school year, this annual will mean much more to you than does the ordinary yearbook.

The Mustang Staff

Here the MUSTANG staff of 1954-55 is pictured in its own private domain, the darkroom. Among the confusions of film holders, enlargers, and paper cutters, pictures were developed, printed, enlarged, and cropped. Here the ad pages were set up and the copy was written and edited. We utilized the seasons, for in the summer we planned, in the fall we set up the dummy, in the winter we accumulated our pictures and copy, and in the spring we met our last deadline.

At the Journalism Conference at the University of Wyoming, the MUSTANG was proud to receive the following awards: first places for copy and photography, a second place for the feature section, and runner-up place for all-round production.

School Board

Each school year finds seven hard working people doing much for us behind the scenes. Many times we forgot to say "Thank you" to those men and women serving our community unselfishly without remuneration. The problems of 1954 seemed terrific: providing for a heavy enrollment beginning to be felt seriously in the high school, an increased building program, finding enough money to run the schools, buying cottages in subdivisions, arranging for new kindergartens, setting up new rooms in the old junior high building, and providing new classes for us high school people. Fall, winter, spring, and summer these folks stayed on the job. For ourselves and for all those for whom they provided in the years to come, we say, "A job well done."

Mrs. Knapp of the School Board discusses the high school parking problem with Scott Bertagnole and Chuck Dill.

Girls' League Council

The Girls' League Council, as the governing body of the girls of N.C.H.S., began the school year by adopting several new uniform regulations which they hoped would set a precedent for the succeeding years.

The girls helped the Big Sisters welcome the Little Sisters by co-sponsoring the Co-Ed Ball. As soon as the football season was over the Football Ball, DEEP PURPLE, was given in honor of the schools' football heroes. The girls acted as escorts and paid all the bills.

An innovation was a tea with gay autumn trimmings given for the mothers of the council members. In addition the group distributed baskets of food among needy families at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter.

The Council achieved a successful year with the aid of Mrs. Barbara Scifers, sponsor.

Student Council

During the fall came the formation of the Student Council, the governing body of the school. From a small group of people elected in the spring—student body president, girls' vice president, boys' vice president, secretary, and treasurer —the numbers were augmented by representatives from the MUSTANG, the GUSHER, the Military Department and the officers and representatives from the four classes.

The Council took under advisement several changes such as the election fo the Mustang Queen by the members of the football team, choice of a Prom Queen by the student body, and sending back policy and information to the student body through home room representatives.

Homecoming was an event of the autumn season. The Council arranged for the crowning of the Queen in the assembly; and they inaugurated a parade made colorful by the cars of the Queen and her attendants, the float of the Pep Club, the band marching in their blue and gold uniforms, and the boys from the military department. To pep the student body for the homecoming game with Sioux Falls, South Dakota, the Council sponsored a bonfire celebration. The kindled spirit paid off: we defeated the Warriors 14-7.

The beginning of the school year, 1954 saw a new sponsor in charge—Mr. Grant Boyles, taking the place of Mr. Walter Kingham who resigned from the school staff in the spring.

Freshmen

In September, 1954 MUSKRAT RAMBLE was making its way toward the top of the Hit Parade; President Eisenhower was still at the summer White House in Denver; and a new class of freshmen arrived at N.C.H.S. Promising in every field, they elected Larry Samuelson as president, Mike Hanna as vice president, and Bill Ford as secretary-treasurer. They sent Kitty Sue Burridge to the Student Council as their class representative. Along in October Mr. R. S. Hicks, former Supt. of Schools, gave several inspiring talks to both upper and under classmen, the Giants won the pennant, and Larry Samuelson took complete responsibility for the Homecoming bonfire. Nancy Davis, Karen Lewis, Whitney Stevens, and Phyllis Angevine were chosen for the Girls' League Council. During these first two months of school several, including Carol Dugan, Dan Casteel, and Judy Ellen Best, began careers as debaters while Ernie Trujillo, Denny Grant, and Brock Hileman were helping the "B" squad win many of their football games.

At the Freshman Recognition Assembly, "Truth or Corpsequences," in a setting of tombstones and skeletons, they proved their worth as amateur entertainers, foretelling an excellent Follies for 1956.

Big Sisters

With the arrival of 253 slightly frightened freshman girls in N.C.H.S. this September, the Big Sisters' organization had a bigger job than in former years. With one hundred eight senior counselors, the MUSTANG was unable to picture them all. Each senior girl in Big Sisters had two and in some case three little girls to look after. The older girls found dates to the Co-Ed Ball for their little charges, exchanged notes with them on the blackboard in the Girls' League room, and, in general, tried to acquaint the freshmen with the customs and the traditions of the school. The main event of the Big Sisters' year was the Co-Ed Ball, Winter Wonderland, reigned over by Kitty Sue Burridge, Queen, and Whitney Stevens, Princess.

Many of the faces seen here will be missing from the N.C.H.S. roster next fall, but will be added to the long list of freshman football players at colleges throughout the country. Among these are Grant Clark, Dick Flowers, Ed Grant, Fred Lewis, Bob Johnson, and Gene Meyer. In spite of their absence, however, the 1955 squad will have a wicked reputation racked up for them by the sophomores and juniors of this year. Among these underclassmen are all-stater Mike Tipton and a member of the all-state second string, Ray Mora. Also included among the junior stars was halfback, Hi Gernert. At the end of the season, sophomore Dave Coleman was in the process of gaining a name for himself as a successful converter of extra points.

Football

Coach Cheeley's grid squad, although having been set back in three or four conference tilts, showed alert and tactful playing throughout the '54 season. Sparked by a potential backfield, the Mustangs took all of their out-of-state meets to up their record to five wins flanked by four losses. From the beginning conference loss to Laramie, Casper was bettered by all the teams in the state with the exception of Rock Springs whom we trounced in a 44-26 thriller. However, the non-conference games proved more encouraging. Casper began by defeating Billings, which game was followed by wins over Rapid City, Sioux Falls, and Scottsbluff.

Dick Flowers, senior fullback was named player of the week after his outstanding performance against Rapid City, and Coach Cheeley walked off with the Coach of the Week title after the Rock Springs game. Second string position on the All-State team went to senior tackle, Jerry Boltz.

DONNA MILLS

Her Majesty's Court

The most colorful event of our orange and brown fall season was the crowning of the lovely Mustang Queen, Donna Mills. The date was the morning of October 21 and the place was the stage of the auditorium. Almost as soon as school started the Council, after corresponding with several high schools in the state, decided that the Queen and her attendants should be chosen by the football team. Under a big, bright harvest moon, Queen Donna reigned over a bonfire and mixer the night before the homecoming game with the thirty-seven-game-winning Warriors from Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

In honor of their Queen, the Mustangs sent the Warriors, humbled 13-0, flying back to South Dakota in their two chartered planes.

Pep Club

School spirit was not lacking at N.C.H.S. last fall, due in most parts to the efforts of the Pep Club. This group began their campaign for more school spirit among students with the sale of Mustang decals, which not only served as a very effective pep booster, but also expanded the club treasury. The members of the Pep Club attended all football and basketball games en masse, encouraging the teams by the loud yells resounding from their cheering section. They also sponsored the assembly before the Cheyenne football game and in addition built an enormous worm for the homecoming parade. Under the direction of president Betsy Crowell, helped by vice president Pat Mangan, Secretary Julie Baker, and Treasurer Julie Baker, the Pep Club took charge of the concession stand at the homecoming football game and in addition sold home-made lollipops. They also sponsored several movies for the young folks of Casper. All these money-making projects were undertaken with new club sweaters in mind, which they planned to buy eventually. All in all it was a very active year for the Pep Club, with sponsorers Wanda Walters and Marjorie Wilhelm promising even more in years to come.

Latin Club

You might have found yourself wandering past the Girls' League room some evening last spring and discovered a group of frightened students dressed in togas and carrying lighted candles. They were not Roman diplomats, but Latin Club initiates. Having passed stiff exams concocted by older members and the Sponsor, Ruby McBride, the new people were learning some of the fundamentals of this organization. The entire membership met again in the early fall to elect Debbie Nichols, President; Linda Taylor, Vice President; Shirley Tucker, Secretary; and Brad Laughlin, Treasurer. Plans were immediately begun for a banquet which was held in December when all again donned togas and spent the evening feasting Roman style on nothing but Roman foods. The final project was a picnic in the late spring.

Future Nurses

As we high schoolers are frequently doubtful as to the field of business we want to enter, Future Nurses, like Future Teachers, offers its members the incentive and often times the opportunity to begin a career in the occupation in which they are interested. Realizing that ranking high among the qualifications for a good nurse is the love of doing things for others, the 83 Future Nurses accentuated the holiday season by their charitable projects. At Thanksgiving they packed a basket for a needy family of Casper which included everything from mints for the children to a 12 pound ham for the dinner itself, which was purchased under the direction of treasurer, Debbie Nichols. For their Christmas accomplishment, led by madrigal member and Future Nurses President, Phyllis Lagos, they spread their bit of holiday cheer by singing carols at the old folks and nursing homes. The big event of the year came in the spring when the 15 senior members including Vice President Mary Murane, Secretary Celia Lamb, and Sponsor Mrs. McCallum, boarded a bus for Cheyene where they were taken on a guided tour of the Fort Warren Air Force Base and Cheyenne Hospital.

Future Teachers

For the second year in succession, several of the boys of N.C.H.S. joined ranks with the feminine members of the Future Teachers organization. They went on to prove their strength even in the teaching profession with the election of Ray Allen as president and Ron Smith as program chairman. Taking over for Ray when he was absent was "Veep" Billie Sue Buttner, while Sally Strother recorded the minutes and called roll. As soon as school began in September, this group, under the direction of sponsors Janet Lamb, a teacher in the primary grades, and Mrs. Scifers, our Dean of Girls, began making plans for the year. They spent November 17, designated as Visitation Day, observing classes in grade schools throughout the city, and were invited back to the schools in the spring to teach the classes themselves. They also planned a trip to Laramie in May to view the educational department at the University of Wyoming. This trip was financed under the auspices of Treasurer Mary Kay Kingham.

As November rolled around, the current rage of charcoal and pastel pink (and a few white bucks on the feet) was spreading among the girls, as well as among the stronger sex here in N.C.H.S. A national and unbelievably close off-year election swept the country, while here at home the Junior Class was in the limelight. Electionwise, the Juniors chose Jerry Cronen as their president; John Roussalis, vice president; Carol King, secretary-treasurer; and they sent Mary Jo Begley and Dorothy Gamble to the Student Council. Winding up a season of football, several Juniors received letters, including Bill Davis, John Goldtrap, Don Humberson, and Hap Bell. Mid-November found juniors and their sponsors, Marjorie Wilhelm and Mr. Macomber producing a Follies which provided a real challenge to future juniors at N.C.H.S. By the end of the month they had made the final decision on their class rings and were already beginning to plan for the Prom in the spring.

Junior Follies

On the nights of November 18 and 19 the class of '56 rocketed a capacity shipload of passengers through space and into the distant future. Blue prints in preparation for the final blastoff were begun early in the fall, beginning first with actual production of the original script. The program which took place at the Proton Plaza on Mars included everything from bop at Mac's Martian Mint Mart to the fashions of the year 2154. Working constantly behind the scenes were Sandy Waatti, student director, and Gordon Adams who managed everything from props to lights and sound. The show in all aspects could easily be termed out of this world, but as always the case, there was friendly disagreement as to whether the class of '56 had produced a better Follies than the class of '55.

"MERRY, MERRY CHRISTMAS . . ."

"TODAY THERE IS RINGING . . ."

Christma

The spirit of Christmas really comes to N.C.H.S. and to the entire Casper community with the presentation of the Christmas program by the Vocal Section of the Music Department, assisted by many other departments—Art, English, Shop, Dramatics, and Journalism—truly a school-community project. The Christmas music begins with an organ processional played while the choir in their turquoise and white robes march down and take their places. The program of 1954 interspersed vocal numbers with tableaux appropriate to such numbers as "Silent Night," "O

"GLORY TO GOD IN THE HIGHEST . . ."

Little Town," "Christmas Bells," "O Holy Night," and the rest of the favorites. An introduction of secular numbers was followed by the CHRISTMAS STORY in music and picture.

Through the years, it has been noted that when the religious scenes are minimized there is a demand for more of the religious. These scenes and this music are fitting Christmas presents to the parents and friends of Casper's high school students, given freely and joyously by the Madrigal and the assisting faculty.

N.C.H.S

For the first time in our school history, Madrigal had a regular class period. Assembling on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, the choir met between 8:10 and 9:15 in the mornings. This choral group was under the direction of Mrs. Grace Jacobsen. It was given piano accompaniment by Mrs. Dorothy Ransom and Mrs. Roberta Lotspeich.

Our first order of business was to elect the Madrigal officers. Seniors, Gay Wehrli and Ellen Huffman, were given the posts of president and vice president, respectively; whereas Sharon Wilson served as secretary and Pat Mangan as treasurer. Between eighty and ninety students participated in the Choir's full year of events. The schedule of the first semester was devoted to producing the annual Christmas Pageant, along with the aid of the English, Art, and Drama departments. On this program were sung many anthems, along with the well known favorites of the Yule season.

Employing different types of programs, the work of the second semester provided a large offering. A music clinic headed the list. It was held to help music educators and was conducted by Mr. Lloyd Oakland of Montana University. Following this clinic there was a special school assembly. During the latter part of the school year, two concerts were given. So ended a busy year for the Madrigal.

Chuck ———

Well it's again time to write some little white lies telling you what a wonderful personality you have, how good looking you are and what a neat build you have. Well these certainly are not lies. You're really a swell guy I've enjoyed knowing you for the past 4 years. It was fun double-dating with you this year, having discussions (arguments) and dancing with you at the mixers. I hope we can have as much fun next year. I do hope though that next year you'll ask me to dance instead of me asking you. (Ha Ha) Loads of luck in the future. Don't ever change your ways and please stay the way you are. They are so nice and if you stick to them you'll really have a ball. I hope we can be friends for many years.

See ya around!!

Yours,
Janelle

National Forensic League

The National Forensic League seemingly spent most of the school year on the road. Each weekend a group of debaters, orators, poetry readers, and extempers accompanied Miss Feris to parts unknown. They took four of the six places in the Regis amateur tournament; they only lost one debate at the Longmont tournament where they took every place in extemp speaking. The editor of the MUSTANG took the highest rating in oratory at the Denver University meet. These are just a few of the members' top honors. Frequently, Casper civic organizations asked for units of the N.F.L. to act as entertainers.

The Club boasted 45 members this year, ranking highest in the Rocky Mt. District of Wyoming and Colorado. In the fall Jo Anne Blower won first in Casper in the Voice of Democracy. In December Casper sponsored a tournament for Sheridan, Cheyenne, and Hanna. All in all President, Jim Watters, aided by vice president, John Dailey, and secretary, Betsy Crowell, led the club to an extremely busy and fruitful year.

Believe it or not: debaters occasionally use a dictionary.

enne. Not discouraged by their loss, Coach Swede Erickson's squad went on using their full court press style to end the 1955 season as the state champions of Wyoming in Class "A."

Probably the largest change in this year's type of basketball was the shooting of a 1 and 1 free throw from the keyhole. Also disregarded were former team groupings in lettered classes. This gave smaller squads a chance to battle the larger ones and allow sport writers to evaluate all state teams into more logical groupings.

Topping the scoring column was Mike Tipton who averaged about nineteen points per game.

One of the most memorable tributes that is paid to outstanding athletes is membership in the "C" Club. The letter is awarded to those who in inter-state competition have gained a specified amount of points and have also maintained certain training rules at all times.

Characteristically, the boys who proved themselves worthy in the field of athletics also shone brightly when non-glorifying work was to be done. During the polio drive the boys manned several blockades which helped to raise the total of the fund considerably. They also sponsored the "C" Club fights and the annual "C" Club banquet. The Natrona County High School band, one hundred and forty strong, played a colorful part in practically all high school and community activities. Fall performances included half time formations on the field and marching in the Armistice Day and Labor Day parades. During early spring the band gave concerts in Casper, Shoshoni, and Thermopolis while in mid-April the clarinet quartet and Nineteen fifty-five started with a bang when Ohio State, in a 20-7 victory over Southern California, claimed the Rose Bowl title. In Washington, highlight of the New Year was President Eisenhower's State of the Union Address, while elsewhere over the world diplomats were saying that peaceful coercion would be the only preventative of World War III. Sophomores here at N.C.H.S., however, were much too busy learning to bop and mambo to keep up with current events. Elections were held in the early fall and Russell Donley was named class president; Everett McCrary, Vice President; Susan Pace, Secretary-Treasurer; and Buck Buchanan, representative to the Student Council. Sandy Dickensheets was among those elected to the Girls' League Council. It was the beginning of the second semester before Mrs. Gibbs and Mr. Anderson had accepted the responsibility of acting as class sponsors. Among the Sophomores who had gained prominence in their second year in high school were Jerry Carr, member of the Rifle Team, wrestler Tom Shaner, and Nickie Adamson, up and coming debater.

Newcomer's Club

Our own Newcomers' Club is peculiarly ours; it has gained a reputation throughout the United States as an adjuster of new students in a strange school. The group did all the usual things this year such as handling the concessions, giving swimming parties, going on picnics, and dressing up their own room. But what made the activities of this year stand out? A brief resumé can cover only a few of the new ventures: A Christmas program for the residents of the Old Folks Home; a coffee for the new high school P.T.A.; refreshments for the Wyoming orientation group; four new drinking fountains installed in the halls of N.C.H.S.; and a welcome for several state and civic groups which met in 105.

Constantly busy were president Mickey Plough, and vice president Carol Meredith. Treasurer was Virginia Rice and business manager was Janna Woltersdorf. The sponsor who gave so much of her time and industry was as usual for this organization, Miss Kathleen Hemry.

Radio Guild

The voices that bring the morning announcements belong to members of the Radio Guild organization which is under the sponsorship of Mr. Robert Macomber. When the club was reorganized early last fall, members chose Bill Haselmire to head the organization as president, Gordon Adams, vice president, and Debbie Nichols, treasurer. Each Thursday afternoon a Radio Guild member finds himself as assistant disc jockey on Melody Time request program. The guild also has established a weekly teen program which is heard over station KVOC each Saturday morning. The program features an interview with an outstanding member of the student body or of the faculty and a brief summary of news and happenings around N.C.H.S. during the preceding week. The climax of the club's year comes late in the spring when station KSPR is completely taken over for the day by the guild for its annual Radio Day.

According to Margaret Clark it's "Attention to your morning announcements for Friday, June 3, 1955."

Gusher Staff

The Gusher Staff under editor Jimmy Watters, continuously trying to meet the all important deadline, succeeded in producing a top notch paper. Along with the Gusher's regular news coverage several new feature articles were added which appealed to almost every kind of reader from the hot rod enthusiast to the most avid reader of world affairs. The business end of the paper was handled very efficiently by Mary Murane who with one of the largest business staffs in the history of the paper was able almost to double the number of ads printed in the paper. Several members of the staff journeyed to Laramie last fall to get first hand information on new techniques in the field of high school journalism and to bring back several blue ribbons which were won by last year's paper. This year's aspiring journalists have high hopes that their paper will achieve as high a record as The Gusher of the preceding year.

Any student having a grade average of I during the first year and II during the second year is eligible for membership. All third year students are eligible.

The activities of the Spanish Club for the year 1954-55 included a Christmas party complete with a popular pinata and a basketball mixer which they sponsored. Mr. Wells is the faculty leader of the group.

English Club

"Love thyself as the beginning of a life-long romance," or "Water, water everywhere and not a drop to drink" have become routine in the language of the English Club member. This is because at each English Club meeting a quotation of this type was used to signify one's presence with the secretary, Mary Roussalis, called roll. Convening at the home of a member on the third Thursday of each month, English clubsters found themselves quite busy from the first fall schoolbell to the last day of May. Having been elected in the spring of '54, the officers of English Club were prepared to begin fall business without further ado. The four: President Jim Watters; Vice President Vic Poirier; Secretary Mary Roussalis; and Treasurer Dan Moriarty aided by Sponsor Ethel Lindsey directed the entire year's business with the greatest of ease. This was no small task as the English Club engaged in everything from purchasing needed gifts for the school to planning the gigantic party which has become traditional in N.C.H.S. social life.

Dan Moriarty, Stan Brown, and Bud Herzelle are planning a program via HOLIDAY for an English Club meeting.

Seniors

After spending four years accentuated by the Korean crisis, Coed Balls, McCarthy hearings, Scrabble, Junior Follies, and George Goble, the senior class of N.C.H.S. felt anything but a desire to be turned out into the big bad world. The climax of all our glories, however, came in the spring of '55 when a halt was called to our activities here in Casper High. The largest graduating class in the history of Natrona County, we proved ourselves bigger and better than all the rest by being moved from the auditorium to the gymnasium for graduation exercises.

Fall has always been queen time. Crowning this season of our freshman year was the election of Mary Kay Kingham as Coed Ball Queen. When we were seniors Donna Mills was chosen to reign over our very own homecoming festivities. Our junior class president, Mike Welsh, supervised a Follies, which according to senior sources, outdid all former productions. We had a Prom that was really a "Return to Paradise." Leading our class throughout four years of high school were Ray Allen, who as a senior was elected student body president and Julie Baker, who was chosen as Girls' vice president. Perennially busy have been our sponsors, Frances Feris and Ralph Masterson, who have devoted their time to everything from financing a Prom to measuring seniors for caps and gowns. Outstanding athletes these past four years included Bill Thomas, Gene Meyer, Fred Lewis, and Bill Browning. Larry Johnson, our senior class president, had the distinction of being the only Rocky Mountain teenager elected to the 1954 All-American Football Team. Ron Hathaway was our thinker; Jim Watters and Mary Bunce, our speakers; Sharon Chase and Jan Reinhart, our musicians; and Pat Mangan, our artist.

With the opening of the 1955 baseball season ends forty-eight months of the most wonderful years of our lives. To the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," and to the rustle of caps and gowns we are forced to realize that the picnic is over and it is time to throw away the basket.

The Junior-Senior Prom

Immediately following the beginning of the second semester, the Junior class of '54 began to make preparations for the Junior Prom. Committeemen met and discussed for fully three months before final plans for decorations were made. Since we had an extremely large intake from the Follies it was decided that our Prom should be unusually extravagant. Consequently, when the theme "Return to Paradise" was selected, many features were planned which were not characteristic of the ordinary high school dance.

We members of the class of '55 will never forget the seemingly millions of engraved invitations we addressed to members of the class of '54; the mile long strips of green crepe paper which went into the ceiling and walls; the increasingly frequent trips to stationery stores for more crepe paper; Pat Mangan's adeptness at making a bird, complete with tail feathers—all from a square yard of chicken wire; our combined efforts to stuff the product of her labors; the massive wooden frames which the boys constructed for the hut and the boatshaped bandstand; the little grass hut from which punch was served by freshman maids from the South Sea Islands; and the Saturday morning collapse following the final Prom festivities of the night before.

Dear Chuck,

It has really been swell knowing you this year and having our discussions. I enjoyed talking to you and advising you on certain matters. I hope you didn't resent it. I wish you were going to the prom, you'd really have a good time, but it's up to you and if you don't want to that's your business.

I think you are a swell, grad-looking cat. (and I'm not ashamed to be seen with you.) as you seemed to think.

Always stay as you are and you'll go far in life.

Best of luck to a wonderful guy. I hope we can always be friends.

Love ya,

Jarma Simpson

Dear Chuck,
I've enjoyed having you in my classes and hope you have success in everything you do. Play it real cool -- you know what I mean.

As Always,
